Without exception he is one of the best tailors in town. He will give you a guarantee fit and from imported goods at that. Don't fail. Cuerbo and Nolan, who with Fred Rider's Moulin Rouge Extravaganza Company, which comes to the Lyceum, rank in a class by themselves in the delineation of negro comedy. They are not only good singers and faithful portrayals of the negro in his home but can do a buck dance as cleverly as any African who ever heard the banjo play.

Miss Annie Bell who has been very sick with la grippe is now well and able to be out, her many friends welcome her return to good health.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Miss Helen Adams was in splendid voice at Nineteenth St. Baptist church last Sunday morning service. In the absence of chorister, Benj. Washington, former leader James Walker directed. As was expected the joint concert and reception by the Amphion Glee Club and Hoffman's Orchestra was a grand success, full particulars in next week's issue.

Afro-American composers seem to be taking the day. Their compositions are sung everywhere. Amongst the successful composers of what is termed "writers of coon songs" may be mentioned Bob Cole, Billy Johnson, Ernest Hogan, Gussie L. Davis, Bert Williams, Geo. Walker, Irving Jones and Sidney Ferrie.

Black Fatti Troubadours are playing to full houses everywhere in the North.

Sunday last Prof. J. D. Baltimore, assistant principal of the Industrial school maintained his well known reputation as a thoughtful writer in the presentation of his scholarly paper entitled "Progress" before the Congressional Lyceum. He vividly compared Fulton's little steam craft plying the Hudson with the palatial steamer, now plying our navigable rivers and ocean; Stevenson's ten tons locomotive with 50 lbs. of steam and running 20 miles an hour with the 20 lbs. of steam and rushing along at the rate of 50 miles an hour; the simple scythe to the complicated reaper, and concluded by pointing out the vast progress that man himself in his mental, moral and religious development.

"Abraham Lincoln" will be the subject of a paper which the Hon. J. F. Green of Ohio and Chief of the Stamp Division P. O. Department. Read by the Capital City Orchestra, Prof. Benj. T. Holmes, leader.

POINTERS
ON THE SIDE

Contributors to this column are requested to send in their matter on or before Monday of each week. This column is devoted to young ladies and any suggestion on fashions or pointers will tend to benefit young ladies, and will receive special consideration. All matter for this column must be addressed to the Society Editor.

M. T.—It is not right to use too much familiarity. Young men will go too far at times.

E. T.—It is the intention, from what I can understand, of the trustees to compete everybody to enter a competitive examination for positions in the schools.

Olle—I have always found it best to be honest in everything. Deception to those who place confidence in you is bound to be exposed. A true girl is honest to the young man, to whom she is engaged.

Ella—Perhaps if your conscience would permit you to decline some of the many presents you receive, you could better appreciate his company.

Mollie—The City of Berlin, October 1875 crossed the Atlantic, from New York to Queenstown in 7 days 15 hours, and 48 minutes. Of course we can make much faster time now.

Tencher—The old London bridge was the first stone bridge. It was commenced in 1176 and completed in 1209.

Miss T. M.—You can generally tell how much one thinks of you after you have given him your picture.

E. (1)—Apis, was the sacred bull of the Egyptians.

Richel—It is not well to be too proud or selfish. Nothing is more beautiful in a young girl than sedateness and refinement.

Marriage—I would not advise you to marry any man who cannot properly care for you. Marriage is a divine institution, but look at our divorce courts today. Be careful in your selection.

V. T.—To live beyond your means will make one embarrass himself some times. It is best that you be economical in everything.

Flirtation—No sensible man will marry a woman who carries on flirtation. Young men have but little respect for such females. A reserved young lady can always command respect.

Ida—Never tie your faith to any particular person. Be independent. When you decide to marry select your associate. There can be no happiness without respect and love.

Lena—The tower of Babel in Abyssinia is 680 feet high.

R. M.—The nome de plume of F. B. Harie is Bret Hart.

Rolle—Never become so conceited to believe that your company cannot be done without. It is fatal some times to magnify your own importance. You may be disappointed.

Jone—There was a time when beauty was a radiant star in your face. Trouble will often cause one's looks to change. Be firm.

Lottie—Whatever one's faults may be, you should be the last one to betray him. Good advice from you may have its effect.

I. T.—Always keep your word. It demonstrates nobility of character.

Amie—Conceit will often betray one's weakness. Because one thinks well of you don't do anything to destroy that appreciation.

B. M.—We often carry our imposition too far. Never take what you don't need.

N. O.—Costly presents should only be taken from the one to whom you are engaged.

Edith—President Cleveland invited Mr. James C. Matthews to his reception. President Harrison did not invite a gentleman of color neither has President McKinley.

Ella—In your attempt to deceive others you deceive yourself. You may succeed for a time in deceiving one, but your sins will find you out.

Be a positive character, it denotes stability of character.

A good husband loves his mother. One's honesty is measured by the amount of integrity that is developed.

Never allow a gentleman to call at church for you. If he cannot escort you there, let him wait until he has time to do so.

Don't crave to marry a man because he dresses well and looks dandish. You can find honesty beneath tattered clothes.

Never go strolling in dark places. It is vulgar.

Be careful how you accept aid from those who pretend to be so much interested in your welfare.

Men have different ways to betray you.

Never say good bye except when you intend to leave the city.

It is dangerous to give up an old friend for a new one.

Praise the bridge over which you go safely.
